COMMON GROUND

Remedy Code Violations

by Donna Thomas,
Chief Neighborhood Code Enforcement Inspector

Now, more than ever, it is important for property owners and residents notified of code violations to work with their friendly Neighborhood Services Code Inspector to remedy the problem before they are charged fines and court costs. Neighborhood Services will now request fees and court costs for the majority of litter, overgrowth, and vehicle code violation cases that are not corrected within 10 days and housing violations that are not corrected within 30 days. Environmental Court Judge Paty has agreed to support Neighborhood Services’ efforts to bring properties into compliance more quickly.

“We have so many cases going through the court system over and over because they are not being assessed fines and court fees” said Beverly Johnson, Administrator. “It’s time to make a change in order to clear up some of the backlog.”

Property owners notified of a violation should correct the violation within 10 days (30 days for housing) or sooner, if possible.

When the violation is corrected, owners may contact the inspector for a property re-inspection. If the code violation has been corrected, the inspector will close the case and the property owner will not be charged fines. Property owners who are not able to correct a violation within the specified timeframe should contact the inspector immediately to discuss a workable timeframe.

Fines and court costs will be charged to those with code violations any time a property has to be abated by the city, when the property owner takes no action or does not take action within the agreed timeframe, or when a trip to court is required to get compliance.

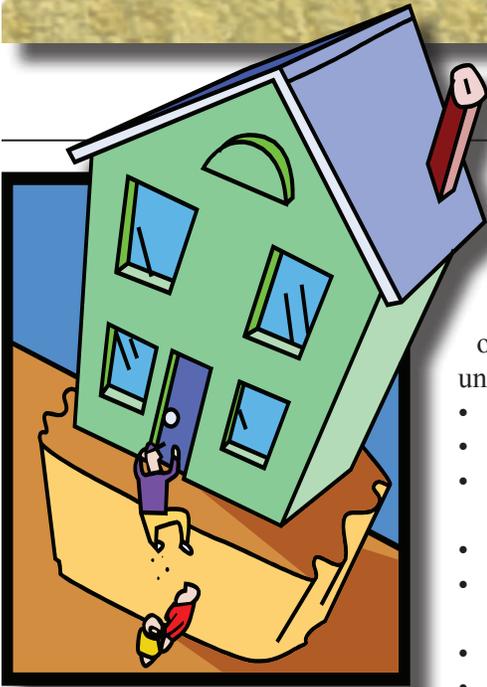

Additional costs may be charged for those cases requiring multiple court trips.

With overgrowth season upon us in full swing, correcting code violations in a timely manner and communicating with Neighborhood Code Inspectors are the best defenses against paying unnecessary fees.

7th Annual Fair Housing Luncheon

The City of Chattanooga Office of Multicultural Affairs will host the 7th Annual Fair Housing Seminar & Luncheon on April 5, 2012 at the Chattanooga Choo Choo. The seminar and luncheon are free and open to the public, but registration is required.

Workshops will be held from 8:00 a.m. – 11:15 a.m. in the Finley Room of the Chattanooga Choo Choo on a wide range of topics that lead to a better understanding of your civil rights and access to equal fair housing:

- Getting uncooperative landlords to make necessary repairs;
- Making your home compliant with city codes enforcement;
- Understanding your Civil Rights and responsibilities as a homeowner, tenant, landlord or property manager;
- Learning about fair housing trends and national origin discrimination;
- Understanding civil rights and responsibilities as a refugee or immigrant seeking access to housing;
- Recognizing discriminatory advertising;
- Understanding your rights under the Fair Housing Act.

Workshop presenters will be Shalini V. Rose, Esq., General Counsel of the Tennessee Human Rights Commission, Nashville, Tennessee; Stephen Fotopulos, Executive Director, Tennessee Immigrant & Refugee Rights Coalition; and Donna Thomas, Chief Neighborhood Code Enforcement Inspector, City of Chattanooga Department of Neighborhood Services and Community Development.

The luncheon will start at 11:30 a.m. in the Imperial Ballroom and will feature Natasha J. Watson as keynote speaker. Ms. Watson is Director for Housing & Urban Development's Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity Center - Kentucky and Tennessee Region.

The OMA sponsors this annual event to commemorate the month of April as "National Fair Housing Month." The seminar and luncheon highlight the passage of the Fair Housing Law, Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968.

To register for the Fair Housing Luncheon, call 423-643-6706 or email to oma@chattanooga.gov.

Administrator's Letter

Spring has sprung - it is marked by extremely high pollen counts (number 7 in the nation, according to CBS News). It is also marked by the busiest season for code inspectors - overgrowth. After fall and winter without having to mow or trim brush, the grass, weeds and trees can suddenly catch you by surprise. Make sure you keep ahead of it before your neighbors start calling us. It will save you time and money (see the article on page 1) in the long run.

This edition of Common Ground is full of calls to action. Hopefully there is some topic you can get involved in. It's the thing we admire most about the residents of Chattanooga's neighborhoods... they care enough to make their communities a better place to live, work and play. Hopefully, we'll run into you at one of these events soon.

Neighborhood LEADERSHIP Institute

The Department of Neighborhood Services and Community Development is now accepting applications for its sixth Neighborhood Leadership Institute

Neighborhood Association Registry

Do you want to stay informed? Does your neighborhood association want to take advantage of the numerous programs the City of Chattanooga offers? The Directory of Registered Neighborhood Associations helps to communicate information to associations' officers about upcoming events, programs and provides your city council representatives contact information for their districts.

If your association is already on the registry but has had recent elections, make sure the information is current. If your information is over a year old but is still accurate, drop your Neighborhood Relations Specialist a note to let us know it is still current.

If your neighborhood association is not registered with us, please visit our website and register or call your Neighborhood Relations Specialists Ty Armour, Karen Clay or Debbie Johnson at 425-3700 for assistance.

The registry can be found on our website at www.chattanooga.gov.

2012 Rental Property Renovation Program

The City of Chattanooga Department of Neighborhood Services and Community Development has funding available to assist private landlords in renovating their rental units. The program awards grants to property owners who substantially renovate their rental units and agree to keep them affordable for a five year period. Following are some of the program details and requirements:

- 1) Rental units MUST BE VACANT at the time of application and renovation.
- 2) Rental units must require significant renovation work.
- 3) The grant covers fifty percent of renovation costs, up to a maximum of $12,000 for a 3-bedroom unit, $10,000 for a 2-bedroom unit, and $8,000 for a 1-bedroom unit.
- 4) The HUD/EPA lead paint regulation must be followed for structures built prior to 1978.
- 5) There is a limit of two rental units per owner (per applicant).
- 6) All building codes will apply and all building permits secured.

Applications will be chosen on a competitive basis. Applications will be available beginning April 1st at www.chattanooga.gov/Files/RentalRehabApp.pdf. Applications can also be obtained by calling Doug Smith at 757-5127.

Once applications are completed, they may be hand delivered or mailed to: Department of Neighborhood Services and Community Development, 101 E. 11th Street, City Hall, Suite 200, Chattanooga, TN 37402. Applications are due by 4 p.m. on April 30, 2012.

Solicitation for Community Input

City of Chattanooga Interceptor Sewer System

What: You are invited to participate in a public meeting involving the City of Chattanooga's Interceptor Sewer System.

Why: To determine the impact of sewer overflows in your community. Overflowing sewers release debris, organic matter, bacteria, viruses, and other pathogens that may be dangerous to human health and impact water quality.

When: 6:00 p.m. on Monday, April 16, 2012
Room 1-A of the Development Resource Center
1250 South Market Street (37402)
and at 6:00 pm on Thursday, April 19, 2012
Multipurpose Room of Brainerd Recreation Center
1010 North Moore Road (37411)

Goals for Community Outreach

To raise public awareness and to actively engage community stakeholders in discussions of sanitary sewer overflow issues and their solutions.

For background information about sewer overflows and the Clean Water Act visit www.epa.gov

For More Information Contact:

This meeting is being conducted by the City of Chattanooga, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation

Neighborhood Roundtable

Springtime is upon us and with spring the flowers start blooming, the bees buzzing and the grass growing. It was very timely that the first speaker was Ms. Donna Thomas, Chief Code Enforcement Inspector of the Department of Neighborhood Services and Community Development Department (DNSCD). Ms. Thomas spoke about the renewed commitment to the neighborhoods in providing clean and healthy neighborhoods.

Ms. Thomas explained that the Codes Enforcement Division of DNSCD enforces the city codes regarding property maintenance including housing, litter, vehicle and overgrowth. She cited the working partnership of the community and the codes enforcement staff as very important in keeping our neighborhoods vibrant and blight free. Ms. Thomas encouraged all to contact 311 with any issues that need to be addressed and invited all to contact her with any questions or concerns pertaining to codes enforcement. She is also available to speak at neighborhood association meetings. If you would like to talk to Ms. Thomas call her at 425-3700.

Messrs. Boyd Patterson, Gang Task Force Coordinator, and Fred Houser, Outreach Coordinator, of the Chattanooga Area Gang Enforcement (C.A.G.E.) spoke to the packed room of neighborhood association representatives. Mr. Patterson explained they are utilizing the National Gang Center model (www.nationalgangcenter.gov) in their approach to addressing this growing problem. Components include suppression, educational opportunities, outreach and organizational partnerships. Mr. Patterson stressed that the neighborhood associations are a crucial piece of the partnerships. Mr. Patterson, a former Hamilton County district attorney, explained his focus is on suppression of criminal activity and the leaders of organized gangs. The two fundamental levels of prosecution are state and federal. The less entrenched gang members—those who are new to a gang organization—and therefore have not engaged in extensive criminal activity are more likely to be prosecuted on the state level of the judicial system. The leaders of the organized gangs will be prosecuted on the federal level utilizing the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO).

Mr. Houser said C.A.G.E. wants to prevent youth from becoming a part of an organized gang or remove those that are not fully initiated into a gang. Prevention and intervention are his priorities. “We want to get kids as early as the second grade and give them positive opportunities from which to choose. We want to intervene and reach the gang members who have not been absorbed too deep in the organization.”

Boyd Patterson and Fred Houser speak to Roundtable members about Chattanooga Area Gang Enforcement

This is being done by the many committees representing the faith based community, businesses regarding employment and economics, education, recreation and rehabilitation.

An assessment of all the services available in the Hamilton County region is being conducted by the Ochs Center for Metropolitan Studies. Dr. Kenneth Chilton, President and CEO of the Ochs Center clarified that his agency is compiling the hard tangible data such as criminal activities to include ages, offenses, geographic locations as well as absenteeism, disciplinary issues, academic grades from the elementary, middle and high school educational institutions. Focus groups are being conducted with various groups particularly in the middle to high schools. Mr. Chilton said it is very important to talk to these youth for their definition of a gang, their day to day experiences, how they perceive the issue and define them.

Mr. Patterson stressed that the assessment is not a study, but rather a comprehensive picture with factual data and the input of the affected communities. This will provide a more solid and effective program policy with which to address our growing organized gang problem. He said the neighborhoods are very vital to developing an effective and positive policy. “We need you and your insight.”

If you see activity that you believe may be gang related in your neighborhood, you may call the Chattanooga Police Department at the main number 698-2525 or their Gang Suppression Unit at 643-5796. For questions regarding the Chattanooga Area Gang Enforcement task force contact Mr. Patterson at 425-7835 or Mr. Houser at 425-7837.

The next Neighborhood Roundtable is May 9, 2012 at 1:00 p.m. in the Mayor’s Conference Room, Third Floor, Chattanooga City Hall.

Neighborly News from...

King Oak Subdivision

by Ty Armour, Neighborhood Relations Specialist

The King Oak subdivision was first established in 1973 by the late Mr. Chester McDaniel who was one of the first known developers of the subdivision. Mr. McDaniel had a vision for the subdivision; he wanted it to be a nice and safe community for people to live, have fun and raise their children so he went door-to-door getting ideas from each and every person who live in the neighborhood at that time. From his hard work and undying efforts, in 1975 a Welcome Wagon committee was developed to make all newcomers feel at home and be part of a loving and caring neighborhood.

Shortly thereafter, around the early 80's, a Christmas decoration committee was established by the late Mrs. Mary Marble. Mrs. Barbara Starr, Mrs. Gloria Robinson and the late Mrs. Walkins also established a girls club for the local residents in the neighborhood, teaching things such as: healthy eating, healthy living, getting started on a career path and transitioning from girls to young ladies. During the early 90's a committee was formed to help neighbors that were in need, distributing fruit baskets to bereaved families, the sick and shut-ins.

The King Oak subdivision's first neighborhood meeting was held in the late 90's. The first president was Mrs. Dorothy Sealy, Mr. Elijah Sanders was the first treasurer but there were many other people in the community that played a valuable role in keeping the meetings going as well as the neighborhood. The King Oak subdivision is known for its beautiful oak trees, which is how they got their name.

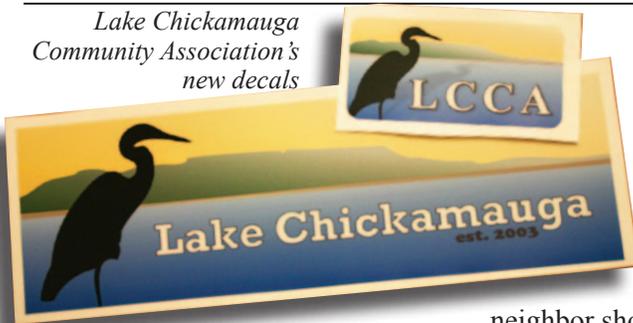

Over the years, the King Oak Community has maintained a reputation of fine caring people who are proud of their homes and their community. Generations of families have lived in the community for over 35 years; some have passed away and left their home to the next generation. Over the years the King Oak subdivision has expanded tremendously with about 50 new homes being built since the early 90's.

King Oak subdivision was awarded funding through the 2010-2011 Neighborhood Partners Program to place community markers in the neighborhood to welcome everyone. King Oak Subdivision meets the 4th Sunday of each month at 5:00 p.m.

Lake Chickamauga Community Association

Lake Chickamauga Community Association's new decals

by Karen D. Clay, Neighborhood Relations Specialist

Lake Chickamauga is a lovely neighborhood nestled between Lake Chickamauga and Highway 153. The Lake Chickamauga Community Association has been working and brainstorming ways to increase their membership and residents participation.

Several second generation families have either built or purchased homes within the neighborhood. Many of the homes still have large areas utilized for vegetable gardening. It's not uncommon to have a neighbor show up with a basket of homegrown vegetables to share.

With vibrant interaction among new and old neighbors, the association was formed in 2003. They participate in the Great American Clean-up, neighborhood picnics, yard sales and community projects. Representatives participate in National Night Out as well as Neighborhood Leadership Institute. The association strives to keep residents informed and aware of neighborhood happenings. The group distributes newsletters and meeting notices for the upcoming meetings. Lake Chickamauga is continually working to brand their neighborhood. As you pass through this beautiful neighborhood take note of the sign toppers; it tells a story of the community. Representatives took advantage of our Neighborhood Partners Program and applied for funding to purchase decals as a way to create unity of the neighborhood and to identify residents and vehicles in the community. The association meets bi-monthly at Oakwood Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Great job Lake Chickamauga... keep up the hard work!
